

Bushnell Craft Brewery Set to Release Winter Warmer

REDMOND, Wash., Dec. 5, 2014 — As Charles Caleb Colton once said, "Imitation is the sincerest of flattery." Bushnell Craft Brewing Company is copying itself and releasing yet another seasonal ale. "The release of the pumpkin ale in November was so well received, as was the beer, that we shall do it once again, this time with a splendid Winter Warmer," proclaims company founder and assistant brew master Kempton Bushnell in his best English accent. "Our new brew master and alchemist, Jamie Richard, has been locked away in his lab and has developed yet another great ale," Kempton adds.

The new Winter Warmer shall be called Kreisel in honor of the Winter Olympics held in Sochi, Russia earlier this year. Kreisel is the German word for 'gyro' and refers to a 270 degree or greater turn in a bobsledding track. These bobsledding athletes reach legendary speeds and risk life and limb to be the fastest and best at their sport and the guys at Bushnell Craft Brewing Company toast their bravery and determination.

Kreisel has an Original Gravity of 1.068, ABV of 6.9%, and is a full-bodied ale with malty sweetness and spicy hop character. Lots of late additions of Northwest hop give this beer a spicy bitterness and flowery nose. Kreisel will be Bushnell Craft Brewing Companies second seasonal brew and will be released to a select few on Saturday December 13th from 11:00am to 3:00pm in a private event exclusively for 144 members. Kreisel will be released to the general public on Saturday December 20th. Membership into the exclusive 144 club is still available and anyone wishing to become a member prior to the Kreisel release must have registered prior to the event.
